Mrs. Matthew Baird Will Introduce Her Granddaughter at a Large Dansant This Afternoon—Mr. and Mrs. Mason to Entertain for Miss Agnes Brockie

UTTENDALE BAIRD will be introduced this afternoon at the Bellevue-Stratford by her grandmother, Mrs. Matthew Baird, of 812 Pine street.

There will be dancing and a large number of girls are to be in the receiving party. Uttendale has had a most successful winter; she is asked everywhere and very generally liked by one and all. She has a slightly foreign air and is decidedly clever. Her coloring is very lovely, the light brown hair has a golden shade and she affects red in many of her costumes, which is exceptionally becoming to her fair complexion.

She is a member of the Plays and Players and has taken several leading parts in some of the plays given in this and last season.

Among the dolls who will receive this afternoon will be Agnes Brockie, Barbara Benson, Barbara Lloyd, Grace Brewster, Georgia Bailey, of Harrisburg; Josephine Foster, Rachel Pflizer, Corinne Freeman, Sarah Franklin, Olivia Gazam, Louise Gray, Rosemond Fisher, Katharine Hunter, Emille Kennedy, Theo Lillie, Edith Earle, Valentine Mitchell, Anne Merrick, Margaretta and Sarah Myers. How those girls keep it up I don't see, but they do and look just as fresh and young as possible. Then there will be Ilda Martin, who is so attractive; Martha McAllister, Sarah Nelson, Lisa Norris, Sarah Penrose, Edith Page, Gertrude Pancoast, Caroline Pemberton, Christine Stockton, Francisca Randall, Margaret Remak, Katherine Register, Beth Scott, Mildred and Carolyn Sheppard, Mary Seull, Marjorie Taylor, Mary Percum and Elizabeth Wheeler. The other girls in the receiving party will be Mary Wurts, Isabel Page, Emma Dorr and Lillie Crisfield.

What do you think? May Hodge and Bertha Clark have decided to take up nursing and are entered at the Pennsylvania Hospital. Every one is wondering why they have decided to work, when they have no urgent need for this world's goods; but after all, girls do very often get tired of a constant empty round of going out all the time, and I hear they have decided they want a definite purpose in life, and it surely is a fine thing to devote themselves to helping their sisters and brothers who are among the suffering; Bertha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis Clark, of 2215 Spruce street. She made her debut several years ago and is a very popular young person. She has a very attractive sister, Frances. Mary Hodge is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Woolsey Hodge and a sister of Harry Hodge, who is regarded as one of our eligibles and is always sought after for the various affairs. Her sister Louie married Joe Phillips and lives out at Torresdale.

The William Ellis Sculls will give a dinner dance tonight for Mariana Gowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis I. Gowen, who was introduced at a tea last month. The Sculls have a wonderful old place out at Overbrook. I often wonder why they don't have out-of-door parties in the spring and fall, for it is ideal for such a purpose. Marrot, by the way, is very sweet—everyone says she has such charming manners and the few times I have talked with her I have been struck with her perfect ease and savoir faire, without a grain of self-consciousness.

Agnes Brockie will be given a theatre party and supper by the Jack Manners of Chestnut Hill, tonight. Agnes, so one of the boys tells me, is the greatest fun lover and is ready for every kind of good time, into which she enters with all the zest possible. It makes her a very nice person to entertain, don't you think?

Weddings

PAGE-KREMER.

One of the most picturesque of the winter weddings took place today at noon when Miss Katherine Herman, daughter of Mrs. Herman K. Kremer, to Mr. Louis Rodman Page, Jr., took place in the Church of the Holy Trinity on Eltenhouse square. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend W. W. Tankins, D. D., the rector of the church, assisted by the Reverend John W. Williams, rector of All Saints' Church at Chelsea.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law Mr. Robert Martin Williams, looked wonderful in a gown of ivory white tulle over a foundation of satin. The full skirt was formed of billows of the tulle falling in points below the short satin skirt. The bodice was of satin finished off with a silver tulle and the court train was of white and silver brocade. Her hair was styled in long waves, which were arranged quite simply over the coiffure with orange blossoms. The bride carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. J. M. Brown, Jr., acted as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Susan Lynch Bruce, Mrs. Robert Sturges Ingersoll, Miss Charlotte Mock Bain, Mrs. Sydney Errington Martin, Mrs. Gurney Munn, Miss Cecile Pflizer Howell, Mrs. C. A. Heckscher Wetherill and Mrs. John Shipley Dixon.

Mrs. Brown was handsomely gowned in peach pink tulle, entirely veiled in mauve tulle, with a hoop skirt of tulle. Her hair was styled in waves, and she carried a huge arm bouquet of chrysanthemums and roses in pastel shades.

The bridesmaids wore exquisite frocks of peach-colored, satin-striped tulle, with long skirts partially veiled in mauve tulle, and their hair was of mauve tulle. They carried huge bouquets of flowers in pastel shades suspended from the shoulders with ribbons.

Mr. Page had his brother, Mr. Edward C. Page, as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Miers Fisher Wright, Mr. William W. Bodine, Mr. Ellingham B. Morris, Jr.; Mr. Sumner Rulon-Miller, Mr. Saunders Meade, Mr. John Shipley Dixon, Mr. R. Gilpin Davis, Mr. J. Marchal Brown, Jr.; Mr. Henry McKean Ingersoll, Mr. Harry C. Drayton, Mr. Henry Orrick, Baltimore, and Mr. George Sloane, of New York.

The chance of the church was banked with autumn flowers to blend with the color scheme of the gorgeous bridal party. A small breakfast at 2036 Walnut street followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Page after a short wedding trip will live at 2215 Spruce street, returning to town in time for the Christmas holidays.

TAYLOR-GOOD.

The marriage of Miss Laura Elizabeth Good to Mr. Joseph Pannell Taylor will take place today at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frederick W. Thompson, 3505 Chestnut street, a cousin of the bride.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins. The bride will wear a costume of bottle-green duvetine with bands of moleskin and a blouse of green chiffon adorned with silver lace. Her hat of white velvet will be veiled by a single flower, outlined in fur. Both the bride and her attendant will carry small bouquets of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mr. Stanley Yarnall will act as best man. After a honeymoon in Bermuda Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will live at 6255 Wayne avenue.

ANGLIN-SHERRON.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thomson Sherron, of Hamilton Court, announce that the marriage of their daughter, Miss Josephine Eveline Sherron, to Mr. William Wendling Anglin, of Kingston, Canada, son of Colonel William Anglin, of the British army, now in Egypt, will take place today at noon at Hamilton Court.

Miss Sherron is the granddaughter of the late Thomas Reeves Gill, of this city, and Albert W. Sherron, of Salem, N. J. The bridegroom is a cousin of Miss Margaret Anglin, the actress.

STOUT-LORD.

Among the interesting weddings of the week was that of Miss Ella Lord and Mr. H. Preston Stout, of Oaklyn, N. J., which took place on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Lillie Daumont, 1233 South 48th street, a friend of the bride.

MRS. WILLIAM WENDLING ANGLIN. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thomson Sherron, whose marriage to Mr. Anglin, of Canada, took place today at noon.

NEW DIRECTOR SAYS HE WILL KEEP POLICE OUT OF POLITICS

William H. Wilson Emphatic in His Indorsement of Pre-election Promises of Incoming Mayor

DUTY HIS WATCHWORD

This is the fifth in a series of interviews with the new directors appointed by Mayor-elect Smith on their plans for the conduct of their department.

The man who needs enthusiasm most in the new cabinet of Mayor-elect Thomas B. Smith is the best equipped with it. William H. Wilson, newly appointed Director of the Department of Public Safety, so called "premier" of the cabinet, who he talks to the bluecoats and firemen who will be under his direction next year the way he talked in the course of a 15-minute interview he will have no difficulty in enlisting them.

The question of whether or not the police will be active again in politics with the return of the Republicans to office is the first one always put to Mr. Wilson. His answer always has been an emphatic "No." Today he amplified that statement as follows: "I am in thorough and absolute accord with the pre-election pledges of the Mayor-elect, re-elected time and again since the election, that the police will be kept out of politics. The same thing applies to the firemen. As Director of the Department of Public Safety, I intend to see that patrolmen do duty as patrolmen and nothing else and that firemen do their rightful work and nothing else."

"PSYCHOLOGY" OF DEPARTMENT. It is somewhat difficult for the Director of this department, generally looked on as the most important in the administration, to outline plans for his conduct of it. Unlike every other division of the city's government, with the single exception of the Department of Public Safety, the Police is more of a maintenance job than a constructive one. In nearly every other department certain broad, general lines for public improvement are laid out, but the Police is more of a maintenance job than a constructive one.

The Department of Public Safety, more than any other, deals with men. It deals with them in the police bureau, in the fire bureau, in the corrections bureau. And, in a lesser degree, perhaps, it deals with men in the regulation of buildings, boiler and elevator inspection. The director of this department needs to know something about psychology. (I don't know nothing about it.) He should be able to get in touch not only with his immediate subordinates, but with the patrolmen themselves when it is necessary. Unless he can do this all the disciplinary in the worst of the discipline, one of the first essentials of a good police force, loyalty.

MODEST AND SINCERE.

Director Wilson knows all this. He is determined to "make good." To use his own words. The first reason for this is to show Philadelphia that Mayor-elect Smith did not misplace his confidence. The new Director is singularly well equipped with modesty for a man who has been in public affairs as long as he is. When he was asked his opinion of the cabinet members he said: "I think the right man was selected for the right place in every instance—but, of course, I'm not talking now about myself. My acts will have to speak for me. I am determined to make good. I've made up my mind to go thoroughly into the details of every bureau under the supervision of the department and to give this city and the Mayor-elect the best that is in me from start to finish. The best answer to the question of what is to be done about the three-platoon system, according to Director Wilson, is that Captain Davis, his assistant, is the man who established the system and got it working.

"Will the system be continued?" the Director was asked. "Not if we can't improve it and give the men even better working conditions," he said. "If we can't make it any better we'll keep it up as it is."

Director Wilson realizes that it will be impossible to make things any better for the patrolman until more bluecoats are added to the force. He will ask for a large increase as soon as possible after taking office.

"Is some of the outlying districts," he said, "it is utterly impossible for patrol-

DANCE FOR ASSUNTA HOUSE BENEFIT TO BE GIVEN NEXT WEEK

A Number of Girls in the Younger Set Will Give a Dance at the Walton on December 16—Other Entertainments of Interest

ONE of the most attractive of this season's charity affairs will be a dance given for the benefit of L'Assunta House, at 1431 South 10th street, which will be held at the Hotel Walton on Thursday, December 16. The arrangements are being completed by Miss Katherine B. Tulidge, who is assisted by a committee of younger girls, including Miss Rosalie McMichan, Miss Sarah Beecher Finck, Miss Mary Kelly, Miss Dorothy Hoban, Miss Mario McLean, Miss Margaret Tulidge, Miss Helen O'Meara, Miss Eleanor Hayden McFadden, Miss Marie Bonner, Miss Grace Walton, Miss Helen McGinn and Miss Helen Harritt and Miss Beatrice Harritt. Great interest has been exhibited at the daily meetings which are held at the Walton. There will be an original exhibition of the Pavlova gavotte by Miss Mary Stille, assisted by Vincent Carroll.

L'Assunta House is under the direction of the Rev. Edward J. Lyng, of the Catholic Missionary Society.

Quite a flurry of excitement was caused yesterday when it was learned that Miss Edwina Malpass, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Malpass, who takes such a prominent part in the production, "The Journey of Joy," which is scheduled to be given in the ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford on the night of December 14 and 15, was ill with tonsillitis.

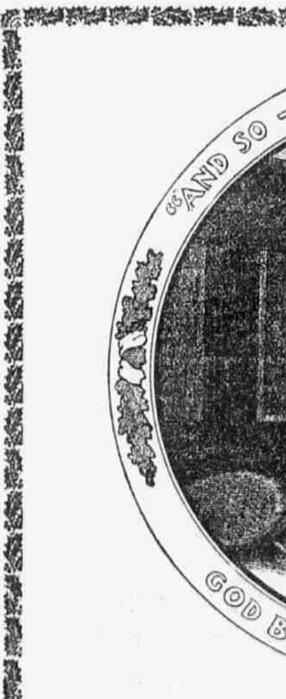

Miss Malpass is one of the most important personages in the play, and in case her illness had proved serious and prevented her taking the several parts, it was a grave question just how her place could be filled. Besides taking the part of Grace in the cast, Miss Malpass, with Norrie Henderson as a partner, leads the group of Balkan dancers, whose picturesque costumes and rhythmical evolutions form one of the most alluring features of the play. In addition, Miss Malpass and Mr. Elwood Carpenter are planning to give a dance which has never before been seen in public, and for which they have rehearsed for several months.

Miss Malpass, who is known throughout the city as being the most wonderful exponent of faithful dancing known on either side of the profession, is eagerly sought after for every affair where a critical taste is to be catered to; and while she does not make her formal debut until next year, this, her last year of school, is largely interjected with rehearsals for the various plays to which she contributes her talent.

An interesting entertainment was given yesterday afternoon by the Hathaway Shakespeare Club at the Philomusian clubrooms, 304 Walnut street. The subject was "Ancient and Modern Pageantry," and among the attractive features of the afternoon was a minstrel in which the men's parts were taken by Mrs. Alford A. Christian, an George Washington, Mrs. A. W. Pickford, Mrs. E. M. Atwood and Mrs. William Anderson, Mrs. Harry Brodwin, Mrs. L. Klein.

A tea party was given in honor of Mr. Samuel Lieberman at his home, 515 Moore street, on Sunday evening. Several new dance steps were executed by Miss Catharine Day, Beckendorf, with Mr. Henry Friedman at the piano. Mr. Joseph Lieberman rendered vocal selections. Among those present were Miss Minerva Recken-dorff, Mr. A. H. Levin, Mr. J. Rothschild, Mr. J. Josselovitch and Mr. Herman Josselovitch.

AS TINY TIM OBSERVED

When Tiny Tim Was Sick

how very patient and gentle he was. You remember how Dickens describes Tim's wan smile and pathetic patience? And as you read, your heart warmed towards the little fellow and you wished you knew a Tiny Tim. You'd make him happy. You'd give him a Xmas he'd remember in the days when he grew up a tall, husky youth. Oh, if only you knew a Tiny Tim you'd—

You DO know a Tiny Tim. There are thousands right here in prosperous Philadelphia—tiny, pathetic, wan-faced, needy little Tims—and we're ready to show them to you. Come now, make good all those promises you made yourself. Tiny Tim is here now in dire need. He needs toys, and warm clothing, and money and good things to eat—but most of all MONEY.

The Santa Claus Storehouse is open at 608 Chestnut Street to receive gifts—toys, clothing, MONEY—for the little ones WHOM SANTA CLAUS MAY FORGET. You remember who saved Tiny Tim—the little fellow who did NOT die? It was Old Scrooge. Come, then, be a Scrooge! Ledger wagons and automobiles will call for your contributions. The United Securities and Trust Company, 605 Chestnut street, has kindly volunteered to accept your check drawn to the Ledger Santa Claus Club.

Were you sincere when you wished you knew a Tiny Tim? Do you believe Old Scrooge really was converted? Do you care at all about Santa Claus? Then make ready NOW your contribution to the
